Intersecting Health, Livability, and Human Behavior in Urban Environments González-Lezcano, Roberto Alonso, 2023-05-03 The promotion of sustainable urban development and livable cities in the past three decades has effectively merged the themes of urban health urban sustainability and urban livability into an integrated research field As more people are predicted to live in a relatively confined space the balance between the physical built environment social environment and urban dwellers becomes more delicate Urban systems have evolved to be more complex than ever during this process While complex systems often offer relative stability delicate balance requires carefully designed plans and management to avoid collapse It is hence of great interest and importance to know what future sustainable and livable cities look like Intersecting Health Livability and Human Behavior in Urban Environments considers how to improve the quality of the environment and healthy living in contemporary and future urban environments Covering key topics such as environmental health smart cities and urban health this premier reference source is ideal for policymakers government officials scholars researchers academicians instructors and students

Environment and Culture Irwin Altman, Joachim F. Wohlwill, 2013-06-29 Following upon the first two volumes in this series which dealt with a broad spectrum of topics in the environment and behavior field ranging from theoretical to applied and including disciplinary interdisciplinary and professionally oriented approaches we have chosen to devote subsequent volumes to more specifically defined topics Thus Volume Three dealt with Children and the Environment seen from the combined perspective of researchers in environmental and developmental psychology The present volume has a similarly topical coverage dealing with the complex set of relationships between culture and the physical environment It is broad and necessarily eclectic with respect to content theory methodology and epistemological stance and the contributors to it represent a wide variety of fields and disciplines including psychology geography anthropology economics and environmental design We were fortunate to enlist the collaboration of Amos Rapoport in the organization and editing of this volume as he brings to this task a particularly pertinent perspective that combines anthropology and architecture Volume Five of the series presently in preparation will cover the subject of behavioral science aspects of transportation

Culture, Environmental Action and Sustainability International Association for People-Environment Studies. Conference, Ricardo García Mira, José Romay Martínez, José Manuel Sabucedo Cameselle, 2003. Culture is an important mediator between behavior and the environment impacting on social participation and environmental action and thus in turn on sustainable development. It is also of great significance in shaping our quality of life within the context of globalization both in urban and rural areas. In this volume renowned researchers from around the world and from a variety of disciplines including psychology, architecture, design, and urban planning take a global perspective in looking at the implications of culture and cultural differences for our quality of life and the way in which people interact. These implications are illustrated using real world examples. The contributions carefully selected and edited from presentations at the 17th Conference of the International Association for People Environment Studies (IAPS) held in A Coruña, Spain deal with the following main themes: Culture, quality of life and globalization; Environmental action and participation; Urban sustainability and cultural diversity; Children and the environment; The elderly and the environment. A useful tool for researchers, students, and those involved in decision making processes, this book should contribute to the improved management of environmental resources within a framework of sustainability, multiculturalism, and responsible environmental action.

The Chitawan Tharus in Southern Nepal Ulrike Müller-Böker, 1999. Die Chitawan Tharu, eine ethnische Gruppe im südlichen Nepal, stehen im Zentrum dieser Publikation. Basierend auf ethnologisch-klassifikatorischen und indigenem Wissen werden Kenntnisse, Bewertung und Nutzung der natürlichen Umwelt untersucht. Es wird versucht, die Umwelt mit den Augen derer zu sehen, die in ihr handeln. Damit liefert die Arbeit wertvolle Anregungen für entwicklungspolitische Ansätze, die eine Entwicklung von unten propagieren. Zunächst werden die theoretisch-methodischen Grundlagen des ethnologischen Ansatzes entwickelt. Chitawan und seine Bewohner werden vorgestellt. Die folgenden betonen ethnologisch orientierten

Kapitel befassen sich mit der natuerlichen Umwelt aus der Sicht der Tharu mit ihrer traditionellen Wirtschaftsweise und Technologie Abschlie end werden die unterschiedlichen Konzepte von Umweltbewertung herausgearbeitet die im Konflikt um einen Nationalpark aufeinandertreffen The remarkable achievement of this book is that it highlights the interface of socially relevant information focussing on the natural environment of the Tharus from the perspective of their indigenous knowledge It provides the reader with insights which can only be obtained through an inter disciplinary approach Internationales Asienforum For anyone interested in Southern Nepal and Chitawan and its National Park and people this book is exceptional this text provides a fascinating and thorough insight into the life of the Tharus people in Southern Nepal through the eyes of an experienced competent and respectful researcher I highly recommend it The Geographical Journal
