Emptying God:

The Emptying God John B. Cobb, Christopher Ives, 2005-10-11 Masao Abe is widely acknowledged as a leader in the worldwide dialogue on Buddhism. A profound scholar of Buddhism and of Christian theology, his critical and constructive reflections culminate in the seminal essay that is the cornerstone of this volume. Seven eminent scholars respond to the challenge of Abe's construal of Kenotic God and Dynamic Sunyata. Abe demonstrates powerfully the dynamism of the Buddhist appreciation of the divine Emptiness at the heart of Being. His essay suggests how the doctrine of sunyata can provide a needed corrective to the reified understanding of God prominent in Jewish and Christian traditions. Abe opens the way for new and deeper engagement of these traditions with the wisdom of Buddhism. Leading Christian and Jewish theologians Thomas J. J. Altizer, Eugene Borowitz, John B. Cobb Jr., Catherine Keller, Schubert M. Ogden, Jürgen Moltmann, and David Tracy respond to Abe's challenge. From perspectives as diverse as American feminism, post-Holocaust Judaism, process thought, and hermeneutics, they reply to Abe's proposals for considering God to be intrinsically self-emptying. Abe responds to these essays in a conclusion. Provocative and illuminating, The Emptying God shows how interfaith dialogue at its very best provides materials for the mutual transformation of all traditions.

The Emptying God John B. Cobb, Christopher Ives, 1991

The Self-emptying God Peter J. Colyer, 2014-10-17 Christ emptied himself, we read in Paul's letter to the Philippians, words that are probably part of an early Christian liturgy. In this book Peter Colyer examines in detail the concept of the self-emptying kenosis of Christ and of the ways in which this understanding of the historic figure of Jesus Christ has been extended to the whole being of God. The sections of the book deal with the need for compatibility between theological and scientific views of the natural world, the increasing inadequacy of some descriptions of God in the light of scientific knowledge, a detailed examination of the biblical material, not only the key text in Philippians but also relevant material from several other parts of the Bible, the history of kenotic theology in Christian teaching with a particular focus on Continental and British theology of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, and the value of divine self-emptying for a reconciliation between Christian faith and scientific approaches. The book demonstrates that the self-emptying of God has been a remarkably persistent theme throughout Christian history. An extensive bibliography is included.

Christ emptied himself, we read in Paul's letter to the Philippians, words that are probably part of an early Christian liturgy. In this book Peter Colyer examines in detail the concept of the self-emptying kenosis of Christ and of the ways in which this understanding of the historic figure of Jesus Christ has been extended to the whole being of God. The Johannine Exegesis of God Daniel Rathnakara Sadananda, 2004 Johannine Exegesis of God is a stimulating study of the explicit and implicit theological language of the Johannine community. It exegetically explores crucial questions concerning the Fourth Evangelist's language used to characterize God It makes a sojourn into the relationship between Johannine Christology and Theology It examines the dialogue dynamics of a theological conversation between those who do not share the same theological affirmations and enumerates how the Johannine community derives benefit becomes enriched and learns inclusiveness through its dialogue conflict with its pluralistic environment In approaching and interpreting the Gospel narrative the implications of Theology in the Johannine community s struggle for legitimacy identity and existence become clear The Theology of the Johannine community shows a creative dialect with its sociological context and its experiential theologising makes its theological language authentic clear and precise

The Concept of Self in Hinduism, Buddhism, and Christianity and Its Implication for Interfaith Relations Kiseong Shin, 2017-05-05 This is the first comparative study of the self and no self in Hinduism Buddhism and Christianity In spite of doctrinal differences within these three belief systems they agree that human beings are in a predicament from which they need to be liberated Indian religions including Hinduism and Buddhism share the belief that human nature is inherently perfectible while the epistemological and psychological limitation of the human being is integral to Christian belief Regarding the immortality of the human being Hinduism and Christianity traditionally and generally agree that human beings as atman or soul possess intrinsic immortality On the contrary Buddhism teaches the doctrine of no self anatta Further in their quest to analyze the human predicament and attempt a way out of it they employ different concepts such as sin and salvation in Christianity attachment tanka and enlightenment nirvana in Buddhism and ignorance avidya and liberation moksa in Hinduism This volume seeks to show that behind these concepts are deep concerns related to human existence and its relationship with the whole creation These common concerns can be a basis for a greater understanding and dialogue between Christians Hindus and Buddhists

Christ Lucien Richard, 1997 A major theologian develops here a complete and systematic Christology that integrates the divine acts of creation liberation incarnation and redemption with the life ministry death and resurrection of Jesus

Buddhist-Christian Dialogue as Theological Exchange Ernest M. Valea, 2015-04-14 This book is intended to encourage the use of comparative theology in contemporary Buddhist Christian dialogue as a new approach that would truly respect each religious tradition s uniqueness and make dialogue beneficial for all participants interested in a real theological exchange As a result of the impasse reached by the current theologies of religions exclusivism inclusivism and pluralism in formulating a constructive approach in dialogue this volume assesses the thought of the founding fathers of an academic Buddhist Christian dialogue in search of clues that would encourage a comparativist approach These founding fathers are considered to be three important representatives of the Kyoto School Kitaro Nishida Keiji Nishitani and Masao Abe and John Cobb an American process theologian The guiding line for assessing their views of dialogue is the concept of human perfection as it is expressed by the original traditions in Mahayana Buddhism and Orthodox Christianity Following Abe s methodology in dialogue an Orthodox contribution to comparative theology proposes a reciprocal enrichment of traditions not by syncretistic means but by providing a better understanding and even correction of one's own tradition when considering it in the light of the other while using internal resources for making the necessary corrections

Exploring Kenotic Christology C. Stephen Evans, 2006 This collection of essays by a team of Christian philosophers theologians and biblical scholars explores the viability of a kenotic account of the incarnation Such an account is inspired by Paul's lyrical claims in Philippians 2:6-11 that Christ Jesus though God in nature emptied himself or made himself nothing by becoming human The biblical support for such a view can be found throughout the four gospels and the book of Hebrews as well as in other places A kenotic account takes seriously the possibility that Christ in becoming incarnate temporarily divested himself of such properties as omnipotence omniscience and omnipresence Several of the contributors argue that this view is fully orthodox and that it has great strengths in giving us a picture of a God who is willing to become completely vulnerable for the sake of human beings and one that is completely consistent with the very human portrait of Jesus in the New Testament The proponents of kenotic Christology argue that the philosophical accounts of God's nature that have led to rejection of this theory ought themselves to be subjected to criticism in light of the biblical data Some essays test the theory by raising critical questions and arguing that traditional accounts of the incarnation can achieve the goals of kenotic theories as well as kenotic theories can The book also explores the implications of a kenotic view of the incarnation for philosophical theology in general and the doctrine of the Trinity in particular and it concludes with essays that examine the validity of the ideal of kenosis for women and a challenge to traditional Christology to take a kenotic theory seriously Book jacket

Three Times Emptiness: Śūnyatā, Kenosis, Fanā' Thorsten Botz-Bornstein, 2026-01-01 This book offers a triangular comparative analysis by evaluating three different religious approaches to emptiness It reveals what emptiness or nothingness mean in different cultural and religious contexts Further it assesses each tradition's emptiness concerning the emptiness of the believer the emptiness of the world and perhaps even the temporary or permanent emptiness of God Chapters include perspectives on different religions and though being manifest in different ways within their respective traditions the Hindu and Buddhist concept of nyat the Christian concept of divine kenosis and the f concept of fan share a common denominator all three signify emptiness Covered are both spiritual and mundane functions of this emptiness that the three religions address This monograph appeals to students and researchers and reveals that the idea of an empty reality that is purified of superfluous fullness are philosophical concepts relevant for all domains of life
