Scientific Inquiry Cycle: Review

Science helps communities solve problems by applying knowledge and creating things that "solve" real-world issues such as water quality or waste management using science. It helps us understand the world around us and find solutions to our problems. It is the process of using science to solve a problem.

Designing solutions requires considering various constraints, such as budget, time, and safety concerns. Constraints limit what you can do. Constraints can be a challenge, but they also help you focus on what is most important. For example, creating a solution for a water filter that is safe and easy to use, cannot influence the effectiveness of the solution.

After identifying a solution, determining how it works, what constraints affected it, and any compromises that have already been and are to be made on the way. Communication, working together, and reflecting on the results of the solution are important steps. The process of identifying a solution helps you understand, communicate, and solve community issues.

6A. Mark the best answer for each question.

1. What is the first important step when working on a problem to solve a local problem?
- Thinking of a solution
  - Using the most expensive materials
  - Ignoring safety concerns
  - Understanding the problem fully
2. What does brainstorming contribute to a solution-help with?
- Using the products of the solution
  - Explaining the solution and safety
  - Breaking the task into smaller parts
  - Determining what the solution has to solve
3. Which is an example of a constraint?
- Working without any tools
  - Understanding how to finish the project
  - No access to resources
  - Choosing materials that can be used
4. Why is it important to consider constraints when designing a solution?
- To avoid run-time errors
  - To make the solution work
  - To finish the project on time
  - To avoid unnecessary steps

6B. Mark if the statement is True (T) or False (F).

1. A solution made after one failed attempt is always better than one made after many failed attempts.
