Repko, Rick Szostak, 2025-03-18 This book offers a comprehensive systematic presentation of the interdisciplinary research process and the theory that informs it by drawing on student and professional work from a variety of fields Examples have been updated in the Fifth Edition so most are more contemporary new content has been added on mixed methods and team research to respond to the needs of graduate students and content has been revised throughout to address the current thinking on interdisciplinarity and integration and strategies for achieving common ground as an interdisciplinary research team Educational Theory and Jewish Studies in Conversation Harvey Shapiro, 2013 Educational Theory and Jewish Studies in Conversation From Volozhin to Buczacz by

Harvey Shapiro PhD brings together two different fields of study modern Jewish studies and contemporary educational theory to provide new theoretical frameworks for their interaction Although Jewish studies and education programs at secular universities have joined denominational and transdenominational institutions of higher learning in adopting a dual or parallel course structure there has been little scholarly attention given to the basis for doing so Shapiro provides alternative theoretical frameworks for the relationship between Jewish studies and educational theory and discusses different ways of developing and articulating these relationships between disciplines Shapiro shows what is at stake when students and faculty think and communicate together across discourses in particular between the fields of education and Jewish studies Presenting an alternative to conventional notions of interdisciplinarity this book s import extends to virtually all relationships between the humanities and professional education when these different discourses illuminate and challenge one another

Task Force on the Research Enterprise,2005 Handbook of Feminist Research Sharlene Nagy Hesse-Biber,2007 The topic feminist research has too often been neglected in standard research methods books The Handbook of Feminist Research represents the establishment of a new tradition or paradigm in viewing how the research process is implemented Feminist researchers bring unique epistemological and methodological perspectives to the research process Feminists approach to methodology allows for new types of questions about women s lives and those of other ed marginalized groups to be addressed within their respective fields of research This Handbook stresses the interconnections between epistemology methodology and methods They are not de linked from each other but work together in dynamic ways to produce new knowledge and this openness itself is also characteristic of how feminist researchers approach their work Feminists engage synergistically with all three aspects of the research process epistemology methodology and method Through a synergistic connection between these elements of research epistemology methodology and method we find that feminist research often shapes new research endeavors that are greater than the sum of their parts In other words while traditional research employs these components of research the synergistic engagement of these components in feminist research questions the status quo aiming to raise our consciousness about how we do research Looking at the selections provided in this Handbook we are able to look at feminist research its implementation of synergistic use of epistemology methodology and method and the resulting qualities of feminist research in practice American Book Publishing Record ,2003 Artists-in-Labs: Processes of Inquiry Jill Scott,2006-02-09 This book verifies the need for the arts and the sciences to work together in order to develop more creative and conceptual approaches to innovation and presentation By blending ethnographical case studies scientific viewpoints and critical essays the focus of this research inquiry is the lab context For scientists the lab context is one of the most important educational experiences For contemporary artists laboratories are inspiring spaces to investigate share know how transfer and search for new collaboration potentials The nine labs represented in this book are from the natural computing and engineering sciences An enclosed comprehensive DVD documents the results the problems and serves as a guideline for the future of true Art Sci experiments Footnotes ,2004 Bulletin ,2014 Arachnē : Revue Interdisciplinaire de Langue Et de Littérature ,1997 Reforming the Evaluation of Research Chris L. S. Coryn,Michael Scriven,2008-07-14 This volume is devoted to efforts at improving the evaluation of research and represents the theoretical methodological and practice perspectives of some of the world's leading scholars who have devoted themselves to improving how research is evaluated. Contributions in this volume come from authors currently or recently working in Australia, Ireland, Japan, New Zealand, the United Kingdom, and the United States. The chapters in this volume offer powerful and promising insights, including:

- A Theories-Based Systemic Framework for Evaluating Diverse Portfolios of Scientific Work
- Strategic Evaluation of Research and Development in Japan's Public Research Institutes
- A Peer Review Process for Games and Software
- The Australian Research Quality Framework
- A Live Experiment in Capturing the Social, Economic, Environmental, and Cultural Returns of Publicly Funded Research
- Evaluation of Large Research Initiatives: Outcomes, Challenges, and Methodological Considerations
- Making Team Science Better: Applying Improvement-Oriented Evaluation Principles to Evaluation of Cooperative Research Centers
- The Logic of Research Evaluation

The result is an invaluable resource not just for the scientists, technologists, and scholars who have been or will be subjected to an assessment of their own research, but also for research managers and policy makers. This is the 118th volume of the Jossey-Bass higher education quarterly report series New Directions for Evaluation, a publication of the American Evaluation Association.
