Endless Short Story:

Double Reading Jeffrey Thomas Nealon, 1993 Looks beyond the apparent fall of deconstruction and shows that its insights have a continuing role to play in postmodernist critical debates Outlines a postmodern approach based on Derrida's overlooked notion of double reading critical analysis that begins within a traditional meaning but is supplemented by an additional reading that undermines the first Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR The Endless Short Story Ronald Sukenick, 1986 These interconnected stories project a sense of life as ongoing improvisation in which you never know what's going to happen next in which you are always in the middle of the story and in which events do not begin and end but only start and stop Endless... Doug Smith, 2019-08-20 A short story about an unrealistic event of a family's night out venture through the anxiety and fear of being stuck in an endless consumption of life Written with non specific characters in mind semi silly Literary Disruptions Jerome Klinkowitz, 1980 The Short Story in English Henry Seidel Canby, 1909 Endless Flight Patricia Elizabeth Lester, 1985 The five stories collected here all pertain in some way to the difficulties that emerge when the central character's passes from one phase of life into another The stories are not intended to illustrate a singular thesis but rather to reveal the effects of growth as filtered through the particularized and unique sensibilities of the characters which live in them Indeed even within a single story the central viewpoint may be split between more than one character By including multiple perspectives the stories explore the process of individual memory and the creation of a personal history The setting in this collection is largely domestic as are the central themes divorce death love and emerging sexuality Characterization is achieved primarily through voice through the patterns and rhythms of speech As a whole the stories offer a prismatic view of the transformational power of love whether that love is sexual familial or social

The Novel as Performance Jerzy Kutnik, 1986 This first full length study of leading contemporary writers Ronald Sukenick and Raymond Federman defines the difference between modern and postmodern writers as the distinction between mimetic and performance art Larry McCaffery notes that Kutnik's thesis is that performance art engages the artist and the audience in a process whose function is fundamentally different from the mimetic tradition that is rather than aiming at representing some preexisting state of affairs performance art seeks to be an experience for its own sake an experience which is ultimately to be recognized as continuous with reality and not merely an occasion for interpretation and analysis Postmodernists such as Sukenick and Federman spotlight themselves in the act of writing Thus their creations have a life of their own and the act of writing is so much a part of that life that the process of creation is as important as the end product Kutnik's metaphor for this process is performance art The Study and Practice of Writing English Gerhard Richard Lomer, Margaret Ashmun, 1917 The Routledge Encyclopedia of Jewish Writers of the Twentieth Century Sorrel Kerbel, 2004-11-23 Now available in paperback for the first time Jewish Writers of the Twentieth Century is both a comprehensive reference resource and a springboard for further study This volume examines canonical Jewish writers less well known authors of Yiddish and Hebrew and emerging Israeli writers includes entries on figures as diverse as Marcel Proust Franz Kafka Tristan Tzara Eugene Ionesco Harold Pinter Tom Stoppard Arthur Miller Saul Bellow Nadine Gordimer and Woody Allen contains introductory essays on Jewish American writing Holocaust literature and memoirs Yiddish writing and Anglo Jewish literature provides a chronology of twentieth century Jewish writers Compiled by expert contributors this book contains over 330 entries on individual authors each consisting of a biography a list of selected publications a scholarly essay on their work and suggestions for further reading

Fiction ,1994 Short stories [formerly Magazine of short stories]. ,1904 Contemporary Novelists Noelle Watson,1991 Contains entries for each author with a biography a list of separately published books and an essay Short Stories of the Hymns Henry Martyn Kieffer,1912 The Editor ,1920
Lippincott's Monthly Magazine ,1912 The Bookman ,1897 Musing the Mosaic Matthew Roberson,2012-02-01 In Musing the Mosaic prominent critics of postmodern and contemporary fiction and culture discuss the fictional and theoretical works of Ronald Sukenick one of the most important American writers to emerge from the late 1960s Sukenick has been a prolific participant in reshaping the American literary tradition for two generations and played a pivotal role in the creation and growth of the Fiction Collective and FC2 publishing houses as well as the journals American Book Review and Black Ice Magazine In his work he argues that contemporary fiction can neither perform traditional functions nor rely on any conventions in an ever more dynamic world Staying true to Sukenick s own creative style one that takes the seams out of writing before re stitching it in ways that are truly novel the contributors examine how and why his writing comes closer to the dissolving fragmentary nature of reality and its lack of closure than perhaps anything written before it Writer's Monthly ,1920 The Living Age ,1900 The Public ,1918
