Scientific Inquiry Cycle: Review

Science helps communities solve problems by applying knowledge and creating things that "solve" with a local focus such as water quality or waste management using science to assess or improve solutions can have a positive impact. Understanding the problem fully, including its causes and effects, is the first step in finding an effective solution.

Designing solutions requires considering various conditions, such as budget, time, and safety concerns. Community members have a role in a solution cycle. Challenges, setbacks, and the inability to weigh their individual contributions for solutions, creating resources for a task that they affect to test and assess if one cannot influence the effectiveness of the solution.

After identifying a solution, determining how it works, what conditions affected it, and any compromises that have already been and should involve on the way. Communication, strong critical thinking, and reflecting on the results of the solution are important steps. The process of the scientific inquiry cycle locally encourages responsible decision-making and team communication.
