Getting Down To Earth:

"Getting Down to Earth ...", 1970 Getting Down to Earth World Bank, 2022-01-14 Outdoor air pollution accounts for an estimated 4.2 million deaths worldwide the majority of which are caused by exposure to fine particulate matter or PM2.5 air pollution Most of these deaths occur in low and middle income countries LMICs Reducing PM2.5 air pollution is thus crucial for improving public health outcomes in those countries Measuring and reducing the health impacts of PM2.5 is especially challenging in many LMICs because ground level air quality monitoring networks are typically nonexistent Where they are in place they are often not properly operated and maintained and are thus unreliable Limited local expertise in air quality measurement presents additional challenges These shortcomings can undermine a country's ability to design and implement effective policies to improve outdoor air quality Satellite technology has been used successfully for measuring air quality in high income countries where operation of ground level air quality monitoring networks is well established However Getting Down to Earth Are Satellites Reliable for Measuring Air Pollutants That Cause Mortality in Low and Middle Income Countries investigates the performance of satellites in LMICs for predicting outdoor concentrations of PM2.5 based on case studies in nine cities in different regions representing a range of environmental conditions including mountainous dusty and coastal The report finds that the satellite derived estimates of PM2.5 in LMICs are associated with very large uncertainty ranging from 21 percent to 85 percent depending on the model used for translating satellite measurements of aerosol optical depth the parameter measured by satellites to surface level outdoor PM2.5 concentrations This report shows that satellites are unreliable for estimating ambient concentrations of PM2.5 in LMICs Furthermore satellite derived measurements cannot replace properly operated and maintained ground level monitoring networks for measuring the concentrations of PM2.5 that human beings are typically exposed to daily Thus it is important that LMICs strengthen support for the establishment of ground level monitoring networks to measure air pollutants notably PM2.5 that cause mortality in Sub-Saharan Africa and other regions with LMICs A Down-To-Earth Guide To SDLC Project Management (2nd Edition) Joshua Boyde, 2014-07-01 This book has been crafted for both the project management novice who is ready to confront their first real project through to the seasoned veteran with several project battle campaigns under their belt This book is based on many years of real world System Development Life Cycle SDLC project management as well as the Project Management Body Of Knowledge PMBOK the blending of the useful elements from other management practices principles and the incorporation of the past experiences the lessons learnt from the various industrial backgrounds of those persons who graciously contributed to this book's creation Described within is the practical application of field tested project management techniques to actual situations and prevailing circumstances where the realities of commercial necessities have to be given serious consideration Additionally this book does cover some topics and ugly truths that are often not acknowledged in academic textbooks on project management Contains over 100 explanatory diagrams real example cases candid comments from project program
