Evaluating Writing Describing Measuring Judging:

Evaluating Writing Charles Raymond Cooper, 1977      L2 Writing Assessment Anthony Green, 2022-12-07 This book tackles three choices that face developers of L2 writing assessments defining L2 writing abilities collecting evidence of those abilities usually by getting L2 writers to write something and judging their performance usually by assigning a score or grade to it It takes a historical view of how assessment developers have made those choices how contemporary practices emerged and of alternative techniques that have risen and fallen over time The three sections each tackle one of these choices The first considers the social functions that define L2 writing and assessment the second relates how assessment tasks have adapted to changing conceptions of languages writing and assessment and the third explores how scoring systems have evolved Each section brings the reader up to date with current issues confronting writing assessment both in large scale testing and in language classrooms before considering the new opportunities and challenges of the digital age This book will be of interest to students scholars and practitioners in language assessment language education and applied linguistics

Fifth Grade 1981 Wisconsin Writing Assessment Paul Diehl, 1981      Research in Basic Writing Martin Jacobi, Michael G. Moran, 1990-02-15 This reference handbook surveys research on the central issue associated with the teaching of unprepared writers Though basic writing has only been recognized as a distinct area of teaching and research since 1975 the existing bibliographic texts already seem limited due to their age or lack of annotation This volume provides current and extensive bibliographic essays and will help to define this new field of study for teachers and researchers Following an introduction that summarizes the origins and significant texts in basic writing the book is divided into three sections Social Science Perspectives Linguistic Perspectives and Pedagogical Perspectives The first section which contains three essays views the field through the lens of social psychological and political issues The second section also containing three essays examines contributions made from studies of grammar dialects and second language acquisition The third section in its four essays focuses on the design development administration and evaluation of basic writing courses the use of computers in basic writing classrooms the role of the writing lab and the preparation of basic writing teachers An appendix that reviews current textbooks for basic writing courses is also included as well as an index This book will be a valuable resource for teachers of basic writing in education courses and workshops that train teachers and tutors and in fields such as linguistics technical writing and Teaching English as a Second Language It will also be an important addition to public and university libraries and many education programs      Evaluating Children's Writing Suzanne Bratcher, Linda Ryan, 2003-09-12

Introduces statement from preface about application activities for a wide range of writing evaluation strategies elementary classroom teachers can use to determine a grade Txtbk for undergrad graduate elementary language arts writing methods courses      Guide to College Writing Assessment Peggy O'Neill, Cindy Moore, Brian Huot, 2009-04-15 While most English professionals feel comfortable with language and literacy theories assessment theories seem more alien English professionals often don't have a clear understanding of the key concepts in educational measurement such as validity and reliability nor do they understand the statistical formulas associated with psychometrics. But understanding assessment theory and applying it by those who are not psychometricians is critical in developing useful ethical assessments in college writing programs and in interpreting and using assessment results. A Guide to College Writing Assessment is designed as an introduction and source book for WPAs, department chairs, teachers, and administrators. Always cognizant of the critical components of particular teaching contexts, O'Neill, Moore, and Huot have written sophisticated but accessible chapters on the history, theory, application, and background of writing assessment, and they offer a dozen appendices of practical samples and models for a range of common assessment needs. Because there are numerous resources available to assist faculty in assessing the writing of individual students in particular classrooms, A Guide to College Writing Assessment focuses on approaches to the kinds of assessment that typically happen outside of individual classrooms: placement evaluation, exit examination, programmatic assessment, and faculty evaluation. Most of all, the argument of this book is that creating the conditions for meaningful college writing assessment hinges not only on understanding the history and theories informing assessment practice but also on composition programs availing themselves of the full range of available assessment practices.

Research Within Reach, 1983
A Program Development Handbook for the Holistic Assessment of Writing, Norbert Elliot, Maximino Plata, Paul F. Zellhart, 1990. This book is a major breakthrough for developers of writing assessment programs who must certify the writing competency of undergraduate students. Legislators and accreditation boards across the nation have called for and implemented large-scale projects to measure educational outcomes. This single source provides comprehensive information on the history, underlying concepts, and process of conducting a large-scale writing assessment program at a specific institution of higher education. The handbook opens with an analysis of the rationale for the assessment of writing during the junior year of the undergraduate curriculum. The authors then turn to a case study of the success of their own institutional-wide assessment program. A history is provided of 20th-century writing assessment practices, as well as attention is given to defining levels of literacy. After describing an assessment process model, discussion turns to the design of questions, the administration of the assessment, the rating of papers, and the statistical analysis of data. Attention is also given to the design of a course for those who are unsuccessful on the assessment. The study closes with directions for further research and over 200 references in the bibliography.
