

FLORA EUROPAEA
Notulae Systematicae
ad Floram Europaeam spectantes

a V. H. HEYWOOD editae

No. 7

1968

Introduction

This number of the Notulae completes the new taxonomic and nomenclatural material which affects volume II of FLORA EUROPAEA. The number of nomenclatural changes is considerable as a consequence of typification studies, strict application of the Code of Nomenclature and taxonomic revision. In the Umbelliferae and Leguminosae some of the new names proposed for familiar genera and species may appear unfortunate but they have been agreed to after extensive investigation and discussion.

The expert guidance of Mr. J. E. DANDY in these matters is gladly acknowledged.

V. H. HEYWOOD

R. H. RICHENS:

The Correct Designation of the European Field Elm

FLORA EUROPAEA introduced the epithet Ulmus minor MILL. for the European field elm, till recently usually named U. carpiniifolia GLED. or U. foliacea GILIB. The reasons for adopting U. minor MILL. are rather complicated and, for the sake of those who have not made a special study of the nomenclatural nightmares of this genus, are set out below.

There are four principal taxonomic treatments of European elms of the section Madocarpus DUM.

(1) All the European elms of this section, excluding U. elliptica C. KOCH, can be grouped under one species, as LINNAEUS did, in which case the correct name for the whole assemblage is U. campestris L. sensu lato. No one has seen fit to adopt this treatment in recent years, though all the elms in this group are probably fully interfertile.

(2) The northern and montane taxon U. glabra HUDS., with the nutlet central in the samara and with a very short petiole, can be removed from the rest of the European Madocarpus elms, leaving a residuum which has been variously designated. The epithet U. campestris L. cannot be applied to this residuum since, as shown by STEARN & GILMOUR (1932), this epithet is a nomen ambiguum at this level of taxonomic discrimination, having been applied both to U. glabra Huds. and to the residual Madocarpus elms. The earliest available epithet has to be chosen from among the three binomials published simultaneously in 1768 by MILLER for segre-
