

First Principles Thinking

How to practice and think from first principles

*"In every systematic inquiry (methods) where there are first principles from acquiring knowledge of things for we think we know them just in case we acquire the primary causes, the primary first principles, all the way to the elements."
Aristotle*

What is First Principles Reasoning?

A first principle is a proposition or an assumption on which methods and laws are based on first principles. Axioms and postulates are first principles in mathematics.

Socratic Questioning

1. Clarify your thinking and explaining the origins of why you think that? What exactly do I think?
2. Challenge assumptions. Why do I think this is true? What if I thought the opposite?
3. Why do I think this is true? What are the sources?
4. Consider alternative perspectives. Do I know I am right?
5. Examine consequences and implications. What if I am wrong? What are the consequences if I am?
6. Question the original questions. What were the original questions? What can I draw from the reasoning process?
