First Ladies Hall:

First Ladies Hall [collection of Dresses of First Ladies of White House, Etc.] Margaret Brown Klapthor, National Museum of History and Technology, 1973 First Ladies Hall - the National Museum of History and Technology, Smithsonian Institution. Dresses National Museum of History and Technology, 1980 The First Ladies Hall, the National Museum of History and Technology, Smithsonian Institution National Museum of History and Technology, Margaret Brown Klapthor, 1965 Our Country's First Ladies Ann Bausum, 2007 Short biographies of our nation's fascinating first ladies The Health of the First Ladies Ludwig M. Deppisch, M.D., 2015-01-28 This first comprehensive study of the medical histories of America's first ladies from Martha Washington to Michelle Obama discusses their illnesses, their treatments, and their physicians in the context of their times. As the categories of illness afflicting Americans have changed through history, so have the kinds of maladies affecting the first ladies. Infectious diseases and the consequences of poorly supervised pregnancies have been replaced by cerebrovascular accidents and malignancies. The secrecy with which the White House has traditionally handled inquiries about the health of the president's wife is explored in detail; however, several first ladies, notably Betty Ford, have been transparent about their illnesses in order to educate the public. The effects of a first lady's responsibilities on her health are examined. This book also seeks to discern how the well-being of the first lady influences presidential performance.

Body and Representation Sigrid Schade, Insa Härtel, 2013-04-17 The Body and Representation: The Centre for Feminist Studies Meets the ifu. The present work is the result of the cooperation between the Centre for Feminist Studies ZFS at the University of Bremen and the International Women's University Hanover 2000 ifu. For the project area, Body Deans Prof. Patricia McFadden and Prof. Barbara Duden, in which roughly one hundred fifty participants from all over the world took part, the Centre for Feminist Studies developed and organized a two-week study phase. The Body and Representation: Feminist Research and Theoretical Perspectives, which was carried out on the campus of the University of Bremen from 30 July to 11 August 2000, concept and chair Prof. Sigrid Schade, collaboration and coordination Dr. Insa Härtel. It formed the third and fourth weeks of a program that lasted thirteen weeks in all. This publication is neither a documentation of this study phase nor an ideal concept for such a curriculum. Neither of these possible variants for such a publication was feasible, and neither would have made much sense for a number of reasons.

The First Ladies Hall National Museum of History and Technology, 1973 Presenting the Past Susan Porter Benson, Stephen Brier, Roy Rosenzweig, 1986 In recent years, history has been increasingly popularized through television docudramas, history museums, paperback historical novels, grassroots community history projects, and other public representations of historical knowledge. This collection of lively and accessible essays is the first examination of the rapidly growing field called public history. Based in part on articles written for the Radical History Review, these eighteen original essays take a sometimes irreverent look at how history is presented to the public in such diverse settings as children's books, Colonial Williamsburg, and the Statue of Liberty. Presenting the Past is organized into three areas which consider the role of mass media Packaging the Past the affects of applied history Professionalizing the Past and the importance of grassroots efforts to shape historical consciousness Politicizing the Past The first section examines the large scale production and dissemination of popular history by mass culture The contributors criticize many of these Hollywood and Madison Avenue productions that promote historical amnesia or affirm dominant values and institutions In Professionalizing the Past the authors show how non university based professional historians have also affected popular historical consciousness through their work in museums historic preservation corporations and government agencies Finally the book considers what has been labeled people s history oral history projects slide shows films and local exhibits and assesses its attempts to reach such diverse constituents as workers ethnic groups women and gays Of essential interest to students of history Presenting the Past also explains to the general reader how Americans have come to view themselves their ancestors and their heritage through the influence of mass media popular culture and public history Author note Susan Porter Benson is Associate Professor and Chair of History at Bristol Community College in Massachusetts Stephen Brier is Director of the American Social History Project and Senior Research Scholar at the Graduate Center City University of New York Roy Rosenzweig is Associate Professor of History and Director of the Oral History Program at George Mason University in Virginia

Channeling the Past Erik Christiansen,2013-03-15 After the turmoil of the Great Depression and World War II Americans looked to the nation s more distant past for lessons to inform its uncertain future By applying recent and emerging techniques in mass communication including radio and television programs and commercial book clubs American elites working in media commerce and government used history to confer authority on their respective messages With insight and wit Erik Christiansen uncovers in Channeling the Past the ways that powerful corporations rewrote history to strengthen the postwar corporate state while progressives communists and other leftists vied to make their own versions of the past more popular Christiansen looks closely at several notable initiatives CBS s flashback You Are There program the Smithsonian Museum of American History constructed in the late 1950s the Cavalcade of America program sponsored by the Du Pont Company the History Book Club and the Freedom Train a museum on rails that traveled the country from 1947 to 1949 exhibiting historic documents and flags including original copies of the U S Constitution and the Magna Carta It is often said that history is written by the victors but Christiansen offers a more nuanced perspective history is constantly remade to suit the objectives of those with the resources to do it He provides dramatic evidence of sophisticated calculations that influenced both public opinion and historical memory and shows that Americans relationships with the past changed as a result

The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a masterful and gripping novel that will keep you guessing until the very end. The novel is a cautionary tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
