Anarchist Voices Paul Avrich, 2021-03-09 Through his many books on the history of anarchism Paul Avrich has done much to dispel the public's conception of the anarchists as mere terrorists In Anarchist Voices Avrich lets American anarchists speak for themselves This abridged edition contains fifty three interviews conducted by Avrich over a period of thirty years interviews that portray the human dimensions of a movement much maligned by the authorities and contemporary journalists Most of the interviewees anarchists as well as their friends and relatives were active during the heyday of the movement between the 1880s and the 1930s They represent all schools of anarchism and include both famous figures and minor ones previously overlooked by most historians Their stories provide a wealth of personal detail about such anarchist luminaries as Emma Goldman and Sacco and Vanzetti

The Exile of Language Libera Pisano, 2025-06-05 The Exile of Language uncovers a hidden chapter in the history of philosophy where early twentieth century German Jewish thinkers such as Fritz Mauthner Gustav Landauer Margarete Susman Franz Rosenzweig and Walter Benjamin grappled with the inherent tension of their intertwined identities The study of these thinkers reveals how a sceptical and diasporic approach to language can question and reshape traditional concepts of belonging purity and nation By confronting the myth of autochthony their critiques of linguistic and national idolatry offer a fresh lens for reimagining politics in our times This narrative blends philosophical depth with groundbreaking insights making it a must read for anyone interested in the dynamic interplay of language identity and community

Ein Gespräch Von Der Kunst und Vom Leben. (Übertragen Von Hedwig Lachmann und Gustav Landauer.) [A Translation of "The Decay of Lying", from "Intentions".]. Oscar Wilde, afterwards LACHMANN-LANDAUER LACHMANN (Hedwig), Gustav Landauer, 1920

Jewish historiography Historians dealing with all facets of Jewish history have tended to treat the destruction of European Jewry as a foregone conclusion This narrow focus on the end rather than on what came before has led to a distorted equation of Jews as nothing but victims This dissertation which deals with the Jewish German poet philosopher and literary critic Margarete Susman 1872 1966 and her fellow intellectuals both Jews and Christians employs a different non teleological approach Susman grew up in the world of the highly assimilated Jewish German bourgeoisie of Wilhelmine Germany Her views were informed by the messianic ethos of reform Judaism as well as by the political project of the Left Despite growing antisemitism and the rise of race thinking in the late 19th and early 20 th century she regarded herself first and foremost as German in other words language was more important to her than blood Her ongoing struggle with questions of self identification and belonging throws light on the vexing question of the category Jew By embedding a thinker like Susman in the context of the various social and intellectual networks which she was part of this project deliberately obfuscates conventional historiographical approaches Starting from the premise that thinking should be studied from an embodied perspective this study investigates thinking and living i e the intellectual and the social not as two distinct realms but as spheres of experience that continually overlap and reinforce each other A close reading of sources ranging from archival biographical materials to newspaper articles philosophical treatises memoirs and extensive correspondences reveals that the intellectual creativity of individuals like Susman Karl Wolfskehl Ernst Bloch Edith Landmann and many others was largely the result of a particular Jewish Christian milieu that roamed geographically as well as topically Even Hitler s rise to power and the extermination of millions could not extinguish this milieu By examining Susman s beliefs and practices as well as those of her peers we arrive at a fuller understanding of Jewish German cultural and social life from the founding of the German empire to the post Holocaust era

Missratene Söhne Carolin Kosuch, 2015-09-16 Fritz Mauthner Gustav Landauer and Erich M hsam lived according to their own self designed blueprints of resistance These countermodels for life were aimed at the bourgeois world their fathers had helped to build in the so called Gr nderzeit They viewed rebellion and revolution as a suitable way of life Carolin Kosuch shows on the one hand how these three thinkers from German Jewish bourgeois families fled from a reality dominated by their fathers to a remote past on the other hand she points out how deeply rooted their synchronized efforts were in their common aspiration to overcome modernity The study provides in depth insights into the relationship between generational experience and critique of the real world
