Newport,1995-10-09 This book provides the theory and some examples of rule based reasoning applied to computer design The presentation begins with design methods These include both structured object oriented design applied to software and systems engineering using several examples Rule based reasoning fuzzy logic and new methods of virtual prototyping of computer designs are also covered Virtual prototyping in contrast to hardware prototyping offers the promise of much lower design cost and more time to prepare prototypes A discussion on this topic concludes with a sample implementation of these methods that can be used for computer system design Advanced Fuzzy Systems Design and Applications Yaochu Jin,2003 This book presents a variety of recently developed methods for generating fuzzy rules from data with the help of neural networks and evolutionary algorithms Special efforts have been put on dealing with knowledge incorporation into neural and evolutionary systems and knowledge extraction from data with the help of fuzzy logic On the one hand knowledge that is understandable to human beings can be extracted from data using evolutionary and learning methods by maintaining the interpretability of the generated fuzzy rules On the other hand a priori knowledge like expert knowledge and human preferences can be incorporated into evolution and learning taking advantage of the knowledge representation capability of fuzzy rule systems and fuzzy preference models Several engineering application examples in the fields of intelligent vehicle systems process modeling and control and robotics are presented
