Gatekeepers Of Growth:

Gatekeepers of Growth Sylvia Maxfield, 1998-07-13 Central banks can shape economic growth affect income distribution influence a country's foreign relations and determine the extent of its democracy While there is considerable literature on the political economy of central banking in OECD countries this is the first book length study focused on central banking in emerging market countries Surveying the dramatic worldwide trend toward increased central bank independence in the 1990s the book argues that global forces must be at work These forces the book contends center on the character of international financial intermediation Going beyond an explanation of central bank independence Sylvia Maxfield posits a general framework for analyzing the impact of different types of international capital flows on the politics of economic policymaking in developing countries The book suggests that central bank independence in emerging market countries does not spring from law but rather from politics As long as politicians value them central banks will enjoy independence Central banks are most likely to be independent in developing countries when politicians desire international creditworthiness Historical analyses of central banks in Brazil Mexico South Korea and Thailand and quantitative analyses of a larger sample of developing countries corroborate this investor signaling explanation of broad trends in central bank status Oxford Textbook of Cancer Biology Francesco Pezzella, Mahvash Tavassoli, David Kerr, 2019-05-02 The study of the biology of tumours has grown to become markedly interdisciplinary involving chemists statisticians epidemiologists mathematicians bioinformaticians and computer scientists alongside biologists geneticists and clinicians The Oxford Textbook of Cancer Biology brings together the most up to date developments from different branches of research into one coherent volume providing a comprehensive and current account of this rapidly evolving field Structured in eight sections the book starts with a review of the development and biology of multi cellular organisms how they maintain a healthy homeostasis in an individual and a description of the molecular basis of cancer development The book then illustrates as once cells become neoplastic their signalling network is altered and pathological behaviour follows It explores the changes that cancer cells can induce in nearby normal tissue the new relationship established between them and the stroma and the interaction between the immune system and tumour growth The authors illustrate the contribution provided by high throughput techniques to map cancer at different levels from genomic sequencing to cellular metabolic functions and how information technology with its vast amounts of data is integrated with traditional cell biology to provide a global view of the disease The effect of the different types of treatments on the biology of the neoplastic cells are explored to understand on the one side why some treatments succeed and on the other how they can affect the biology of resistant and recurrent disease The book concludes by summarizing what we know to date about cancer and in what direction our understanding of cancer is moving Edited by leading authorities in the field with an international team of contributors this book is an essential resource for scholars and professionals working in the wide variety of sub disciplines that make up today's cancer research and treatment community

The Netherlands in a European Perspective Netherlands. Sociaal en Cultureel Planbureau,2001 How does The Netherlands compare with the other members of the European family This issue of the Social and Cultural Report is devoted chiefly to answering that question From how long we can expect to live to how much television we watch from having the most part time jobs to the least number of detached houses The report portrays Dutch society and policy in a great variety of aspects including demography economy public administration public participation and public opinion health care social security education and leisure The international comparison is largely limited to members of the EU but sometimes includes other Western countries as well

Quite a number of family resemblances come to light. The Netherlands shares most of its trends and problems with other European welfare states. Yet some contemporary issues have taken on a distinctive profile in The Netherlands and these have been given special attention in this report.

Ovarian Cancer Ian J. Jacobs, 2002

Ovarian cancer provides an up to date and comprehensive synthesis of clinical management and research progress in the field of epithelial ovarian cancer. The book has its origins in two separate but complementary initiatives. One initiative was a series of reviews commissioned to cover the spectrum of clinical management of ovarian cancer from prevention, screening and diagnosis to surgery, chemotherapy and palliative care. The reviews were invited from an international panel of clinicians with expertise in the management of ovarian cancer. The second initiative was co-ordinated by the Helene Harris Memorial Trust (HHMT) which has organised key biennial meetings on ovarian cancer for the last 12 years. Attendance at the meetings is by invitation to a small group of international authorities on research aspects of ovarian cancer. Setting the clinically focused reviews alongside the HHMT research focused chapters has created a unique book. First the book is unusually up to date and presents recent advances not included in other books in this field. Second the contents are comprehensive and cover aetiology, pathology, screening, prevention, diagnosis, prognostic techniques, surgery, adjuvant therapy and palliative care. Third the review chapters are set alongside more detailed coverage of recent clinical and basic science developments. Examples of this are the coverage of familial cancer, prevention, screening and current therapy which are consequently much more topical and exciting. Fourth there are sections on tumour biology and novel therapies which have not been covered in comparable books about ovarian cancer. Finally the contributions are from a representative spectrum of experts from both research and clinical backgrounds and with a truly international perspective.
