Globalising Education:

Higher Education in a Globalising World J. Enders, Oliver Fulton, 2012-12-06 This Festschrift is dedicated to Ulrich Teichler who is celebrating his sixtieth birth day in 2002 Ulrich Teichler has been a central actor in the development of the field of research on higher education in Germany Europe and beyond Not only has he dedicated his professional career to studying a large number of higher education topics through national and international research projects He was also in the fore front of the efforts to strengthen the structure and profile of higher education re search for example through his involvement in the establishment of the Consortium of Higher Education Researchers CHER In addition he has contributed to many important scholarly works reflecting on the state of the art and the nature of the field The conventional wisdom is that working in a university or college makes you an expert on higher education Consequently while academics like to do research on every possible topic they are in general reluctant to examine their own social insti tution Within the European context Ulrich Teichler is one of the main exceptions to this rule Already in his student days he has recognised the unique characteristics of higher education institutions and systems and he understood that special efforts are needed to improve our knowledge on higher education

The Impact of Globalization on Education Ilghiz M. Sinagatullin,2006 The notion of globalisation and its relation to education is widely being discussed among politicians philosophers scholars educators and students throughout the world Some fully reject and refuse to accept this phenomenon others try to understand and accept this notion still others completely accept the idea of globalisation and associate with it all progressive changes in the new century's socio-cultural and educational space. Moreover, for a considerable part of the planet's residents, the very spirit of the terms globalism and globalisation still remains an unknown, enigmatic, almost supernatural entity. The contemporary globalising epoch is characterised by pervasive events making a considerable affect on human development, human consciousness, and on various aspects of education and child development: information and knowledge, the digitisation of information and virtualisation of objective reality, the spreading of the English language as an essential global tool for education and international communication, the dissemination of the ideas of global and multicultural education, the rise of the European Union, the market orientation of Russia and the former entities of the former Socialist block, the spreading of the cultural and educational canons of the Anglo-American or Atlantic civilisation upon other cultures and civilisations, and unparalleled demographic growth, especially in Eastern and Southern cultures.

Globalization, Education and Social Justice Joseph Zajda, 2009-12-02. Globalization, Education and Social Justice, which is the tenth volume in the 12-volume book series Globalisation: Comparative Education and Policy Research, presents up-to-date scholarly research on major discourses concerning global trends in education, social justice, and policy research. It provides an easily accessible, practical yet scholarly source of information about the international concern in the field of social justice, globalisation, and policy research. Above all, the book offers the latest findings to the critical issues in education and social justice globally. It is a sourcebook of ideas for researchers, practitioners, and policy makers in education, globalisation, and social justice education reforms around the world. It offers a timely overview of current issues in social justice affecting education policy research in the global culture. It provides directions in education and policy research relevant to transformational educational reforms in the 21st century. The book critically examines the overall interplay between globalisation, education reforms, and social justice. It draws upon recent studies in the areas of globalisation, social justice, education reforms, and the role of the State. It explores conceptual frameworks and methodological approaches applicable in the research covering the State, globalisation, equity, education, and social justice. It demonstrates the neo-liberal ideological imperatives of education and policy reforms and illustrates the way the relationship between the State and education policy affects current models and trends in education reforms for social justice and schooling globally. Various book chapters critique the dominant discourses and debates pertaining to the politics of social justice and education globally and the newly constructed and re-invented models of neo-liberal ideology in education and policy reforms. Using a number of diverse paradigms in comparative education research, ranging from critical theory to post-structuralist discourses, the authors, by focusing on globalisation, social justice, and democracy, attempt to examine critically both the reasons and outcomes of education reforms and policy change for social justice. The volume offers a more informed critique on the Western-driven models of education reforms and implications for social justice. The book also draws upon recent studies in the areas of equity, cultural capital, and dominant ideologies in education. The general intention is to make Globalization, Education and Social
