Entertaining Australia:

Year Book Australia 1995, 1994 First World War, the Universities and the Professions in Australia

1914-1939 Kate Darian-Smith, James Waghorne, 2019-02-19 Australia's extraordinary contribution to World War I extended well beyond its military forces to the expertise of its universities and professional men and women. Scientists and engineers oversaw the manufacture of munitions and the development of chemical weapons. Doctors sustained soldiers in the trenches and treated the physically and psychologically damaged. Public servants, lawyers, and translators were employed in the war bureaucracy while artists and writers found new modes to convey the trauma of war. The graduates and staff of Australia's six universities—Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide, Tasmania, Queensland, and Western Australia—were involved in this expansion of expertise. But what did these men and women do after the guns were silenced? How were the professions and universities transformed by the immediate and longer-term impacts of the war? The First World War, the Universities and the Professions examines how the technical and conceptual advances that occurred during World War I transformed Australian society. It traces the evolving role of universities and their graduates in the 1920s and 1930s, the increasing government validation of research, the expansion of the public service, and the rise of modern professional associations and international networks. While the war contributed to greater specialisations in traditional professions such as teaching or medicine, it also stimulated new jobs and training, whether in economics, anthropology, or graphic art. This volume provides a new account of the interwar years that places knowledge and expertise at the heart of the Australian story. Its four sections—The Medical Sciences, Science and Technology, Humanities, Social Sciences, and Teaching and The Arts, Design, Music, and Writing—highlight how World War I disrupted and shaped the careers of individuals as well as the development of Australian society and institutions.

Australia's Music: Themes of a New Society (2nd ed.) Roger Covell, 2016-12-01 Described on its first publication in 1967 as a scholarly account of Australian music that is also entertaining social history, Roger Covell's Australia's Music: Themes of a New Society has become a classic of Australian music history for its beautifully written explorations of almost two hundred years of music-making across classical, Indigenous, and Anglo-Celtic traditions. This revised edition, including more than sixty musical examples, is supplemented by a new postscript written by the author. World

Entertainment Media Paolo Sigismondi, 2019-07-25 This new book offers an insightful guide into the complex tapestry of global entertainment media markets. It features analyses and case studies from leading international media scholars who explore the causes and effects of globalization upon this ever-evolving industry. By analyzing similarities and differences in a landscape where driving forces of globalization meet locally situated audiences and institutions, this volume unveils a complex, contested space comprising global and local players whose success is determined by both their national and international dimensions It guides its readers to the geographical and intellectual exploration of the international media landscape analyzing the global and local media players and their modus operandi Editor Paolo Sigismondi's insightful engaging collection presents a compelling and novel approach to the analysis of global entertainment media World Entertainment Media Global Regional and Local Perspectives is an ideal starting point for students and practitioners alike looking to build a solid understanding of the global mediascape and a great resource for instructors and scholars in global media entertainment

San Francisco Chamber of Commerce Activities, 1914 The South African Farmer's Advocate and Home Magazine, 1929 Australia, the Recreational Society David Mosler, 2002-01-30 From its very inception Australia has been a derivative society First as part of the British Empire and then soon after World War II what Mosler considers the American Empire and the new end of century Americanized global culture This has meant that Australia has struggled to attain its own identity Mosler explores that struggle for national independence a struggle that seems to be doomed to failure According to Mosler the reasons for this failure lie in Australia's propensity to remain a recreational culture a culture more attuned to pleasure and dependence than regimented hard work and the concomitant collective pattern of national assertiveness The Australian economy defense arrangements culture and psychology have been dominated by other nations and transnational forces The prospects for the nation in the future appear to be somewhat grim unless this historical pattern of dependence and lack of respect indeed almost contempt for national institutions is reversed A provocative analysis that will be of interest to scholars students researchers and anyone interested in Australian history and contemporary life and culture
