

Peace Parks & Environmental Peacemaking

- Peace Park
 - An area of land and/or sea that straddles one or more boundaries between states, sub-national units such as provinces and regions, autonomous areas and/or areas beyond the limits of national sovereignty or jurisdiction, whose constituent parts are especially dedicated to the protection and maintenance of biological diversity, and of natural and associated cultural resources, and managed co-operatively through legal or other effective means (Sandwith et al. 2001: 3).
- Environmental Peacemaking
 - Environmental cooperation, in contrast to “environmental security” as a means of peacemaking, through several channels: enhancing trust, establishing habits of cooperation, lengthening the time horizons of decisionmakers, forging cooperative trans-societal linkages, and creating shared regional norms and identities (Conca & Dabelko, 2002).

(For a thorough treatment of trans-boundary protected areas, see:
Chester, Charles C. 2006. Conservation across borders: Biodiversity in an interdependent world. Washington, D.C.: Island Press.)
