Models of Communication offers a timely reassessment of the significance of modelling in media and communication studies From a rich variety of different perspectives the collected essays explore the past present and future uses of communication models in ordinary discourses concerning communication as well as in academic research This book challenges received views of communication models and opens up new paths of inquiry for communication research By zooming in on the manifestations and purposes of modelling in ordinary discourses on communication as well as in theoretical expositions the essays collected in this volume cast new light on the problems and prospects of models crafted for the benefit of communication inquiry Complementing earlier studies of models of communication the volume digs deep into fundamental epistemological and ontological questions concerning modelling in the communication disciplines but it also presents several novel models that promise to be of practical use in empirical studies of media and communication The book is intended for communication scholars and students of media and will also be of interest for related disciplines in the humanities and the social sciences

Public Administration and Epistemology Arthur Sementelli, 2020-12-28

Knowledge does not happen in a vacuum yet scholars and other professionals tend to engage in management scholarship focused on their specific niche often without knowing if or how their work might relate to other research streams Further exacerbating things people within specific disciplines including management tend not to communicate regularly outside of their relatively homogeneous audiences If we were able to bridge communication among these groups scholars and practitioners we might be able to better understand one another in a way that is contextually informed by each other s experiences Sementelli argues that understanding concepts of power agency and experience can provide such tools to orient management theories and practices relative to one another Using critical management thought to frame a discussion of ontology and how knowledge emerges from it enables the development of an orienting sandbox that works both practically and intellectually Such a sandbox enables us not just to communicate one s organizational priorities but also reveal some underlying reasons for those priorities and areas of inquiry This monograph focuses on public administration in particular as a special case of critical management research This book also examines the complexity of experiences of being using Karl Jaspers as a basis The sandbox that emerges can be used as a way to organize and orient management thought especially in the public sector It contributes both to administrative thought and applied inquiry into philosophy and will be of interest to researchers academics and students in the fields of critical management studies organizational studies and public administration
