Experience Of Place:

The Experience of Place Tony Hiss, 2010-09-29 Why do some places the concourse of Grand Central Terminal or a small farm or even the corner of a skyscraper affect us so mysteriously and yet so forcefully What tiny changes in our everyday environments can radically alter the quality of our daily lives The Experience of Place offers an innovative and delightfully readable proposal for new ways of planning building and managing our most immediate and overlooked surroundings

Data, Architecture and the Experience of Place Anastasia Karandinou, 2018-11-12 The notion of data is increasingly encountered in spatial creative and cultural studies Big data and artificial intelligence are significantly influencing a number of disciplines Processes methods and vocabularies from sciences architecture arts are borrowed discussed and tweaked and new cross disciplinary fields emerge More and more artists and designers are drawing on hard data to interpret the world and to create meaningful sensuous environments Architects are using neurophysiological data to improve their understanding of people s experiences in built spaces Different disciplines collaborate with scientists to visualise data in different and creative ways revealing new connections interpretations and readings This often demonstrates a genuine desire to comprehend human behaviour and experience and to possibly inform design processes accordingly At the same time this opens up questions as to why this desire and curiosity is emerging now how it relates to recent technological advances and how it converses with the cultural philosophical and methodological context of the disciplines with which it engages Questions are also raised as to how the use of data and data informed methods may serve support promote and or challenge political agendas Data Architecture and the Experience of Place provides an overview of new approaches on this significant subject and is ideal for students and researchers in digital architecture architectural theory design digital media sensory studies and related fields

The Authorship of Place Dennis Lo, 2020-09-14 The Authorship of Place is the first monograph dedicated to the study of the politics history aesthetics and practices of location shooting for Taiwanese Mainland Chinese and coproduced art cinemas shot in rural communities since the late 1970s Dennis Lo argues that rural location shooting beyond serving aesthetic and technical needs constitutes practices of cultural survival in a region beset with disruptive and disorienting social changes including rapid urbanization geopolitical shifts and ecological crises In response to these social changes auteurs like Hou Xiaoxian Jia Zhangke Chen Kaige and Li Xing engaged in location shooting to transform sites of film production into symbolically meaningful places of collective memories and aspirations These production practices ultimately enabled auteurs to experiment with imagining Taiwanese Mainland Chinese and cross strait communities in novel and contentious ways Deftly guiding readers on a cross strait tour of prominent shooting locations for the New Chinese Cinemas this book shows how auteurs sought out their disappearing cultural heritage by reenacting lived experiences of nation building homecoming and cultural salvage while shooting on location This was an especially daunting task when auteurs encountered the shooting locations as spaces of unresolved historical social and geopolitical contestations tensions which were only intensified by the impact of filmmaking on rural communities This book demonstrates how these complex circumstances surrounding location shooting were pivotal in shaping both representations of the rural on screen as well as the production communities institutions and industries off screen Informed by cutting edge perspectives in cultural geography and media anthropology The Authorship of Place both revises Chinese language film history and theorizes groundbreaking approaches for investigating the cultural politics of film authorship and production This extraordinary book discusses the uses of location shooting in films by contemporary Taiwanese and Mainland Chinese directors ranging from Li Xing to Jia Zhangke It highlights the ways in which place memory and identity stances respond to social changes and geopolitical disparities In a world full of uncertainty the argument about the imaginary homeland as an experienced cinematic reality only renders it more urgent and universally relatable Ping hui Liao University of California San Diego The Authorship of Place is certainly a welcome intervention into the study of Chinese cinemas and their auteurs that further contributes to the wider study of location shooting as well as cultural geographies and place based imaginaries of film It is rare to find a book dealing with space place in and around cinema that is this inventive and nuanced in its methodologies Stephanie DeBoer Indiana University
