Global Trends 2030 National Intelligence National Intelligence Council, 2015-06-30 Global Trends 2030 Alternative Worlds is the fifth installment in the National Intelligence Council's series aimed at providing a framework for thinking about the future As with previous editions we hope that this report will stimulate strategic thinking by identifying critical trends and potential discontinuities We distinguish between megatrends those factors that will likely occur under any scenario and game changers critical variables whose trajectories are far less certain Finally as our appreciation of the diversity and complexity of various factors has grown we have increased our attention to scenarios or alternative worlds we might face We are at a critical juncture in human history which could lead to widely contrasting futures It is our contention that the future is not set in stone but is malleable the result of an interplay among megatrends game changers and above all human agency Our effort is to encourage decisionmakers whether in government or outside to think and plan for the long term so that negative futures do not occur and positive ones have a better chance of unfolding I would like to point out several innovations in Global Trends 2030 This volume starts with a look back at the four previous Global Trends reports We were buoyed by the overall positive review in the study we commissioned but cognizant too of the scope for needed changes which we have tried to incorporate in this volume Our aim has been to make this effort as collaborative as possible believing that a diversity of perspectives enriches the work We have reached out to experts far beyond Washington D C We have held numerous meetings many in universities in Indiana Texas California New Mexico Pennsylvania Massachusetts Colorado Tennessee New York and New Jersey We also sponsored a public blog which featured blog posts and comments by experts on key themes discussed in Global Trends 2030 The blog had over 140 posts and over 200 comments As of mid October it had 71 000 hits and had been viewed by readers in 167 different countries To ensure that the blog posts can continue to be consulted we are linking them to the web and e book versions of the final published report We expanded our engagement overseas by holding meetings on the initial draft in close to 20 countries Many times this was at the invitation of governments businesses universities or think tanks One beneficial outcome of the NIC s quadrennial efforts has been the growing interest elsewhere in global trends including elaboration by others on their own works which we encourage Because of the widespread interest in how Global Trends 2030 is seen elsewhere we have detailed the reactions of our international experts to the initial draft in a special box following the introduction In this volume we expanded our coverage of disruptive technologies devoting a separate section to it in the work To accomplish that we engaged with research scientists at DoE laboratories at Sandia Oak Ridge and NASA in addition to entrepreneurs and consultants in Silicon Valley and Santa Fe We have also devoted strong attention to economic factors and the nexus of technology and economic growth Finally this volume contains a chapter on the potential trajectories for the US role in the international system Previous editions were criticized particularly by overseas readers for not discussing at greater length the US impact on future international relations We believe that the United States also stands at a critical juncture we have devoted a chapter to delineating possible future directions and their impact on the broader evolution of the international system

Global Trends 2025 ,2008 Global Trends 2025 A Transformed World is the fourth unclassified report prepared by the National Intelligence Council NIC in recent years that takes a long term view of the future It offers a fresh look at how key global trends might develop over the next 15 years to influence world events Our report is not meant to be an exercise in prediction or crystal ball gazing Mindful that there are many possible futures we offer a range of possibilities and potential discontinuities as a way of opening our minds to developments we might otherwise miss Some of our preliminary assessments are highlighted below The whole international system as constructed following WWII will be revolutionized Not only will new players Brazil Russia India and China have a seat at the international high table they will bring new stakes and rules of the game The unprecedented transfer of wealth roughly from West to East now under way will continue for the foreseeable future Unprecedented economic growth coupled with 1.5 billion more people will put pressure on resources particularly energy food and water raising the specter of scarcities emerging as demand outstrips supply The potential for conflict will increase owing partly to political turbulence in parts of the greater Middle East As with the earlier NIC efforts such as Mapping The Global Future 2020 the project's primary goal is to provide US policymakers with a view of how world developments could evolve identifying opportunities and potentially negative developments that might warrant policy action We also hope this paper stimulates a broader discussion of value to educational and policy institutions at home and abroad
