Eves Tattoo:

Eve's Tattoo Emily Prager, 1993 A provocative and darkly humorous novel in which Eve at odds with love and life becomes obsessed with the stories of women in Nazi Germany who were influenced or betrayed by the myth of the master race The American author also wrote Clea and Zeus Divorce and A Visit from the Footbinder Tattoos, Desire and Violence Karin Beeler, 2015-01-27 Whether they graphically depict an individual's or a community's beliefs express the defiance of authority or brand marginalized groups tattoos are a means of interpersonal communication that dates back thousands of years Evidence of the tattoo's place in today's popular culture is all around in advertisements on the stereotypical outlaw character in films and television in supermarket machines that dispense children's wash away tattoos and even in the production of a tattooed Barbie doll This book explores the tattoo's role primarily as an emblem of resistance and marginality in recent literature film and television The association of tattoos with victims of the Holocaust slaves and colonized peoples with gangs inmates and other marginalized groups and the connection of the tattoo narrative to desire and violence are discussed at length After the End James Berger, 1999-01-01 In this study of the cultural pursuit of the end and what follows Berger contends that every apocalyptic depiction leaves something behind some mixture of paradise and wasteland Combining literary psychoanalytic and historical methods Berger mines these depictions for their weight and influence on current culture He applies wide ranging evidence from science fiction to Holocaust literature from Thomas Pynchon to talk shows from American politics to the fiction of Toni Morrison to reveal how representations of apocalyptic endings are indelibly marked by catastrophic histories Eve's Tattoo Emily Prager, 1991 Emily Prager author of A Visit from the Footbridge and Clea and Zeus Divorce now writes a provocative novel filled with surprises and sure to attract a wide readership The heroine of this story Eve begins to identify with a woman she calls Eva a victim of Auschwitz whose concentration camp number Eve has impulsively tattooed on her own arm Eve delves deeper into Eva's past until her discoveries begin to transform everything in the present Edinburgh Companion to Modern Jewish Fiction David Brauner, 2015-06-07 This book provides a critical overview of the main writers and key themes of Anglophone Jewish fiction highlighting the rich diversity of the field identifying key themes analysing the main trends in Anglophone Jewish fiction and situating them in a historical context Post-War Jewish Fiction D. Brauner, 2001-07-18 In this groundbreaking study David Brauner explores the representation of Jewishness in a number of works by postwar British and American Jewish writers identifying a transatlantic sensibility characterised by an insistent compulsion to explain themselves and their Jewishness in ambivalent terms Through detailed readings of novels by famous American authors such as Saul Bellow Philip Roth Bernard Malamud and Arthur Miller alongside those by lesser known British writers such as Frederic Raphael Jonathan Wilson Howard Jacobson and Clive Sinclair certain common preoccupations emerge Gentiles who mistake themselves for Jews Jewish hostility towards Nature writing and not writing about the Holocaust and the relationship between fact and fiction

Committed to Memory Oren Baruch Stier, 2003 How is contemporary public consciousness of the Holocaust shaped and communicated How is commitment to its memory expressed and engendered This text offers a close and critical analysis of a range of cultural activities that mediate the Holocaust for a public increasingly distant from the events of World War II Oren Baruch Stier argues that the manner in which those events are committed to memory coupled with the fervent dedication to memory exhibited by many people and institutions produces distinct memorial mediations of the Shoah

Eve's Second Husband Corra Harris, 1911

Back to the Future of the Body Dominic Janes, 2007 What can the past tell us about the future of the body The origins of this collection of papers lie in the work of the Birkbeck Institute for the Humanities which has been involved in presenting a series of international workshops and conferences on the theme of the cultural life of the body The rationale for these events was that in concepts as diverse as the cyborg the questioning of mind/body dualism the contemporary image of the suicide bomber and the patenting of human genes we can identify ways in which the future of the human body is at stake This volume represents an attempt not so much to speculate about what might happen but to develop strategies for bodily empowerment so as to get back to the future of the body The body it is contended is not to be thought of as an object or a design but as an active participant in the shaping of cultural formations And this is emphatically not an exercise in digging corpses out of the historical archive The question is rather what can past lived and thought experiences of the body tell us about what the body can become The continuing vitality of debate around the body was proven by the range and depth of the papers presented at the workshop on which this volume is based does the body have a future TM Our overall theme required contributors to think through embodiment in the past This they did with considerable interdisciplinary vigour rigorousness and imagination Prof Donna Dickenson Director Birkbeck Institute of the Humanities
