European Defence Cooperation:

The Battle for Authority in European Defence Cooperation Felix Biermann, 2023-10-14 This book addresses one of the most profound transformations in international governance the proliferation of regime complexity Regime complexes can be found wherever state interests clash Thus even in one of the most constitutionalized of institutional environments the European Union EU regime complexity features prominently especially in European defence cooperation where states have created competing institutions overlapping in their mandates to organize armaments cooperation or defence planning The tense relationship between the institutions of the EU s Common Security and Defence Policy CSDP and those of NATO is well known Yet inter institutional conflict is not limited to this dichotomy It extends to institutions beyond these two frameworks such as those of the former Western European Union and regional defence cooperation frameworks such as the Nordic Defence Cooperation NORDEFCO or OCCAR a minilateral armaments agency All these institutions have partially overlapping membership structures and mandates and therefore rival authority claims in the field of European defence This book uncovers the hidden regularities of the ongoing battle for institutional authority among EU member states European Defence Cooperation Trevor Taylor, 1984 European Defence Cooperation in EU Law and IR Theory T. Dyson, 2013-05-07 This book offers a novel contribution to the study of post Cold War European defence Interdisciplinary in approach it uses European law to assess the utility of existing theoretical accounts By exploring the balance of threat theory it provides new insights into the forces driving and hindering European defence cooperation Europe of Defence? Elena Lazarou, 2016 Against the backdrop of growing security challenges the debate regarding the future of European defence cooperation has grown in relevance While the Lisbon Treaty introduced significant possibilities with regard to the future of EU defence policy and while there has been consistent EU Member State public support for further cooperation in this area progress has been slow The impact of the economic crisis on defence budgets fears concerning the effects of more integration on national defence industries and various political considerations are some of the reasons that have been given to explain the reluctance to move towards closer cooperation in defence until now In early 2015 comments by European Commission President Jean Claude Juncker regarding the possibility for the creation of an EU army sparked a wide debate among experts and political elites In June 2015 the European Council concluded that work would continue on a more effective Common Security and Defence Policy CSDP on the further development of civilian and military capabilities and on the strengthening of Europe s defence industry A revamped role for the EU in defence is an important part of the EU Global Strategy presented to Member States at the European Council in June 2016 Individual Member States have also taken the lead in the proposals on how to move ahead suggesting that the momentum is there on many fronts The European Parliament has been a longstanding advocate of a stronger and more effective CSDP This briefing complements an earlier briefing European defence cooperation State of play and thoughts on an EU army published in March 2015 Defence Industrial

Cooperation in the European Union Daniel Fiott,2019-03-28 This book provides an empirical understanding of how EU level defence industrial cooperation functions in practice Using the Liberal Intergovernmental theoretical model the book argues that while national economic preferences are an essential factor of government interests they only explain part of the dynamic that leads to the development of defence industrial policy at EU level Moving beyond a simple adumbration of economic preferences it shows how the EU s institutional framework and corpus of law are used by governments to reaffirm their position as the ultimate arbiter and promoter of national economic preferences in the defence industrial sector To this end the work asks why and how EU member state governments European defence firms and EU institutions developed EU level defence industrial policy between 2003 and 2009 The book also analyses significant policy developments including the establishment of a European Defence Agency and two EU Directives on equipment transfers and defence procurement This book will be of much interest to students of EU policy defence studies security studies and International Relations in general

How to Achieve Defence Cooperation in Europe? Bence Nemeth,2022-05-23 This timely analysis of security in Europe identifies the factors that enable and hinder the creation of networks of defence cooperation across the continent Going beyond regional arrangements established by NATO and the European Union this book considers the subregional level by focusing on bilateral and minilateral defence collaborations It provides a new conceptual framework to assess the rationales leadership and the complex dynamics within these alliances and highlights how they shape and interact with NATO and EU initiatives

Peace, Security and Defence Cooperation in Post-Brexit Europe Cornelia-Adriana Baciu,John Doyle,2019-03-20 Highlighting the challenges and prospects of European security cooperation this volume examines the impact of Brexit on strategic aspects of security peace defence and foreign policy for both the European Union and the UK It applies theoretical and methodological approaches from international relations and security studies to analyse the causal mechanisms of security cooperation and covers topics including innovative security technologies defence procurement EU NATO relations new capabilities frameworks such as PESCO EDF and EII the role of French German military cooperation and the implications of Brexit for European deterrence or the Northern Ireland peace process The findings contribute to a better understanding and management of anticipated challenges and sources of instability in post Brexit Europe

European Defence Cooperation and the Danish Opt-out, 2020 The implications of the Danish defence opt out has grown over the past ten years as defence policy cooperation among the other EU Member States has been strengthened Europe in the Western Alliance Jonathan Alford, Kenneth Hunt, 2015-12-30 This analysis of the political and strategic dilemmas that Europeans now face makes a case for greater political and military cooperation and argues for the creation of a European defence identity that will not hinder improvements in East West relations nor loosen the ties with the US

Small States of the European Union and Brexit Laura C. Ferreira-Pereira, 2024-06-28 This book seeks to offer a better understanding of the strategic responses to Brexit from ten small European Union EU member states Croatia Czech Republic Estonia Finland Ireland Latvia Lithuania Malta Portugal and Slovakia Inspired in an intersection of different streams of research it examines the extent and the ways Brexit has impacted these countries analysing their coping strategies to deal with the challenges raised by such a disruptive development as well as considering the implications of their reactions to Brexit for patterns of national foreign policy Europeanization In so doing this volume enhances the comprehension of smaller EU member states foreign and security policies offering a systematic and comparative analysis of how political and diplomatic elites in ten countries positioned themselves domestically and within the EU vis vis the Brexit process A combination of conceptual insights valuable empirical accounts and updated knowledge on contemporary issues from such interesting set of case studies provides room for debate on the comparability of the way s in which different small countries have approached their Brexit strategies All these aspects are explored with respect to states that have been relatively neglected and underexplored in the small states literature This edited volume will be of great value to upper level students academics and researchers interested in European politics

European Defence Partnerships Jan Joel Andersson, 2023 This Brief is structured in two parts The first part analyses some of the EU's most strategic partnerships and suggests ways in which these could be further tailored and enhanced for instance through a so called Strategic Partnership Plus format The second part shifts the focus to EU Member States various multilateral and bilateral defence cooperation arrangements introducing the analytical concept of institutional nesting to reduce overlap and meeting fatigue while increasing efficiency coherence and output The Brief concludes with reflections on how to ensure that European defence partnerships lay the foundations of a stronger Europe

European Defence Core Groups Anne Bakker, Margriet Ellen Drent, Dick H. Zandee, 2016 The deteriorating security situation around Europe and the burgeoning messages from Washington that Europe has to take more responsibility for its own security call for a step change in European defence cooperation So far progress has been too slow This Policy Brief argues that permanent structured cooperation PESCO offers the option to take a more ambitious and more productive route by member states willing to move forward more quickly set more demanding objectives and commit themselves more strongly This would end the well known voluntary basis which has often been used as an excuse for doing little or nothing at all

European Defence Policy Frédéric Mérand, 2008-05-22

This book explains the creation of the European Union's Security and Defence Policy to this day the most ambitious project of peacetime military integration Whether hailed as a vital step in the integration of Europe or berated as a wasteful threat to US power European citizens are increasingly interested in the common defence policy Today European Defence is more popular than the European Union itself even in Great Britain Mérand addresses the fundamental challenge posed by military integration to the way we think about the state in the 21st Century Looking back over the past 50 years he shows how statesmen diplomats and soldiers have converged towards Brussels as a natural solution to their concerns but also as something worth fighting over The actors most closely associated to the formation of nation states are now shaping a transgovernmental security and defence arena As a result defence policy is being denationalized Exploring the complex relations between the state the military and citizenship in today's Europe Mérand argues that European Defence is a symptom but not a cause of the transformation of the state This book is an original contribution to the theory of European integration Drawing on the work of Pierre Bourdieu M rand develops a political sociology of international relations which seeks to bridge institutionalism and constructivism His careful study of practices social representations and power structures sheds new light on security and defence cooperation but also on European cooperation more generally
