Participatory Media in Environmental Communication Usha Sundar Harris, 2018-09-13 Participatory Media in Environmental Communication brings together stories of communities in the Pacific islands a region that is severely affected by the impacts of climate change Despite living on the margins of the digital revolution these island communities have used media and communication to create awareness of and find solutions to environmental challenges By telling their stories in their own way ordinary people are able to communicate compelling accounts of how different but interrelated environmental political and economic issues converge and impact at a local level This book fills a significant gap in our understanding of how participatory media is used as a dialogic tool to raise awareness and facilitate discussion of environmental issues that are now critical It includes a section on pedagogy and practice the undergirding principles the tools the methods The book offers a framework for Participatory Environmental Communication that weaves three widely used concepts diversity network and agency into a cohesive underlying system to bring scholars practitioners and diverse communities together in a dialogue about pressing environmental issues This book is a valuable resource for researchers and students in communication and media studies environmental communication cultural studies and environmental sciences as well as practitioners policy makers and environmental activists

Climate Change Communication and the Internet Nelya Koteyko, Brigitte Nerlich, Iina Hellsten, 2019-05-16 The volume provides a timely state of the art collection of studies examining climate change communication in the era of digital media The chapters focus on a broad range of topics covering various aspects of both practice and research in climate change communication ranging from the use of online platforms to blogs and social networking sites Climate change communication has increasingly moved into Internet based forums and this volume provides a comprehensive overview of research into Internet and climate change communication The studies share valuable methodological insights in this relatively new field of research and shed light on the opportunities and challenges underlying the collection and analysis of online climate change related data This book was previously published as a special issue of Environmental Communication

Environmental Literacy and New Digital Audiences Pat Brereton, 2018-12-07 Environmental literacy and education is not simply a top down process of disseminating correct attitudes values and beliefs

Rather it is one that incorporates and facilitates a dialogue with audiences of different persuasions and at all levels of engagement to help highlight and co produce consensual solutions to the major eco challenges of our time Exploring the growing power and influence of media formats and outlets like YouTube and gaming alongside fictional and documentary film this book considers new modes of environmental literacy to ascertain the effectiveness of digital and filmic stimuli on an audience s perception of environmental issues and its specific impact on environmental action Drawing on extensive research across a broad range of media formats Brereton establishes how environmental narratives and meanings are created and being received by contemporary audiences This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of environmental communication and media eco criticism and environmental humanities more broadly The Environmental Communication Yearbook Stephen P. Depoe,2004
