Fictions Of Enlightenment:

Fictions of Enlightenment Qiancheng Li, 2003-12-31 Fictions of Enlightenment is the first book to examine the fascinating and intricate relationship between Buddhism and the development of Chinese vernacular fiction Qiancheng Li brings Buddhist models to bear on the vision structure and narrative form of three classics of late imperial literature Journey to the West, Tower of Myriad Mirrors and Dream of the Red Chamber arguing that by fashioning their plots after the narratives of certain Mahayana sutras the novelists transformed Buddhist concepts into narrative structures Within the traditional Chinese novel Li even defines a new genre the fiction of enlightenment

A Historical Study of Early Modern Chinese Fictions (1890—1920) Pingyuan Chen, 2021-01-28 This book contains a classic guide to historical study of early modern Chinese fiction from the late Qing Dynasty till early republican China It does not merely study the new fiction writing in China which was strongly influenced by the western fiction but also draws a comparison between classical Chinese fiction and the early modern Chinese fiction This book is an excellent reference in the study of early modern Chinese literature since it conveys a point of view to the readers with abundant and solid historical materials At the heart of the book it is the matter of a specific value in trans cultural studies between the western world and China

The Fiction of Enlightenment Heidi Bostic, 2010 This book argues that women authors of the French eighteenth century claimed reason and contributed to Enlightenment It begins by framing the Enlightenment as fiction in two senses first what passes under the name of Enlightenment in much current critical discourse is a fiction or a caricatured construct second works of fiction can illuminate Enlightenment The book offers fresh readings of texts by the three most prominent women among eighteenth century writers in French Françoise de Graffigny Marie Jeanne Riccoboni and Isabelle de Charrière These authors challenged the widely held idea that women's reason was inferior to men's Literary forms novels stories plays essays and letters allowed these authors to approach the question of reason in particularly nuanced ways Faithful to the eighteenth century this project is also relevant to the twenty first Book Jacket

Anxieties of Empire and the Fiction of Intrigue Yumna Siddiqi, 2008 Focusing on late nineteenth and twentieth century stories of detection policing and espionage by British and South Asian writers Yumna Siddiqi presents an original and compelling exploration of the cultural anxieties created by imperialism She suggests that while colonial writers use narratives of intrigue to endorse imperial rule postcolonial writers turn the generic conventions and topography of the fiction of intrigue on its head launching a critique of imperial power that makes the repressive and emancipatory impulses of postcolonial modernity visible Siddiqi devotes the first part of her book to the colonial fiction of Arthur Conan Doyle and John Buchan in which the British regime's preoccupation with maintaining power found its voice The rationalization of difference pronouncedly expressed through the genre's strategies of representation and narrative resolution helped to reinforce domination and in some cases allay fears concerning the loss of colonial power In the second part Siddiqi argues that late twentieth century South Asian writers also underscore the state's insecurities but unlike British imperial writers they take a critical view of the state's authoritarian tendencies. Such writers as Amitav Ghosh, Michael Ondaatje, Arundhati Roy, and Salman Rushdie use the conventions of detective and spy fiction in creative ways to explore the coercive actions of the postcolonial state and the power dynamics of a postcolonial New Empire. Drawing on the work of leading theorists of imperialism such as Edward Said, Frantz Fanon, and the Subaltern Studies historians, Siddiqi reveals how British writers express the anxious workings of a will to maintain imperial power in their writing. She also illuminates the ways South Asian writers portray the paradoxes of postcolonial modernity and trace the ruses and uses of reason in a world where the modern marks a horizon not only of hope but also of economic, military, and ecological disaster.

The History of Modern Korean Fiction (1890-1945) Young Min Kim, 2020-11-09. This book explores the history of modern Korean literature from a sociocultural perspective. Rather than focusing solely on specific authors and their works, Young Min Kim argues that the development of modern media, shifting conceptualizations of the author, and a growing mass readership fundamentally shaped the types of narratives that appeared at the turn of the twentieth century. In particular, Kim follows the trajectory of the sin sosol (new fiction) as it meshed with the new print and media culture to give rise to innovative and hybrid genres and literary styles. In doing so, he compellingly illuminates the relationship between literary systems and forms and underscores the necessity of re-locating literary texts in their sociohistorical contexts.

Enlightenment and Political Fiction Cecilia Miller, 2016-03-22. The easy accessibility of political fiction in the long eighteenth century made it possible for any reader or listener to enter into the intellectual debates of the time as much of the core of modern political and economic theory was to be found first in the fiction, not the theory of this age. Amusingly, many of these abstract ideas were presented for the first time in stories featuring less than gifted central characters. The five particular works of fiction examined here, which this book takes as embodying the core of the Enlightenment, focus more on the individual than on social group. Nevertheless, in these same works of fiction, this individual has responsibilities as well as rights, and these responsibilities and rights apply to every individual across the board, regardless of social class, financial status, race, age, or gender. Unlike studies of the Enlightenment which focus only on theory and nonfiction, this study of fiction makes evident that there was a vibrant concern for the constructive as well as destructive aspects of emotion during the Enlightenment, rather than an exclusive concern for rationality.

Ends of Enlightenment John Bender, 2012-08-08. Ends of Enlightenment explores three realms of eighteenth-century

European innovation that remain active in the twenty first century the realist novel philosophical thought and the physical sciences especially human anatomy The European Enlightenment was a state of being a personal stance and an orientation to the world Ways of probing experience and knowledge in the novel and in the visual arts were interleaved with methods of experimentation in science and philosophy This book s fresh perspective considers the novel as an art but also as a force in thinking The critical distance afforded by a view back across the centuries allows Bender to redefine such novelists as Defoe Fielding Goldsmith Godwin and Laclos by placing them along philosophers and scientists like Newton Locke and Hume but also alongside engravings by Hogarth and by anatomist William Hunter His book probes the kinship among realism hypothesis and scientific fact defining in the process the rhetorical basis of public communication during the Enlightenment
