Scientific Inquiry Cycle: Review

Science helps communities solve problems by applying knowledge and inventing things. Often "solved" with a local "fix" such as water testing or waste management, using science to make or improve solutions can have a positive impact. Understanding the problem fully, including its causes and effects, is the first step in finding an effective solution.

Designing solutions begins by considering various constraints, such as budget, time, and safety concerns. Sometimes, important parts of a solution might be hard to change, so it is important to weigh these trade-offs carefully. For example, creating materials for a house that are affordable to build and easy to use, cannot influence the effectiveness of the solution.

After identifying a solution, determining how it works, what constraints affected it, and any compromises that have already been or should be made on the idea. Communication, using design models, and reflecting on the results of the solution are important steps. The process of testing, sharing, and evaluating locally encourages responsible decision-making and helps communities thrive.

6A. Mark the best answer for each question.

1. What is the first important step when working on how to solve a local problem?
- Thinking of a solution immediately
 - Using the most expensive materials
 - Ignoring safety concerns
 - Understanding the problem fully
2. What does determining constraints in a solution help with?
- Ignoring the constraints of the solution
 - Establishing a budget, time, and safety
 - Knowing how to avoid
 - Determining what the solution has no costs
3. Which is an example of a trade-off?
- Finding a solution with no costs
 - Using expensive materials
 - Knowing how to avoid
 - Using unsafe materials
4. Why is communication important?
- To avoid not being in agreement
 - To make ideas clearer
 - To finish the problem by comparing
 - To avoid discussing the work

6B. Mark if the statement is True (T) or False (F).

1. A solution made after one failed attempt is always better than the first one.

Answer for each question.

1. Is a solution made after one failed attempt always better than the first one?

2. Why must this be considered in designing a solution?

3. What might happen when creating a new idea?

4. How might science solutions be implemented?

5. Why are trade-offs essential in scientific understanding?
