Lynda Barry b 1956 is best known for her distinctive style and unique voice first popularized in her underground weekly comic Ernie Pook's Comeek Since then she has published prolifically including numerous comics illustrated novels and nonfiction books exploring the creative process Barry's work is genre and form bending often using collage to create what she calls word with drawing vignettes Her art imaginative and self reflective allows her to discuss gender race relationships memory and her personal everyday lived experience It is through this experience that Barry examines the creative process and offers to readers ways to record and examine their own lives The essays in Contagious Imagination The Work and Art of Lynda Barry edited by Jane Tolmie study the pedagogy of Barry's work and its application academically and practically Examining Barry's career and work from the point of view of research creation Contagious Imagination applies Barry's unique mixture of teaching art learning and creativity to the very form of the volume exploring Barry's imaginative praxis and offering readers their own. With a foreword by Frederick Luis Aldama and an afterword by Glenn Willmott, this volume explores the impact of Barry's work in and out of the classroom. Divided into four sections: Teaching and Learning, which focuses on critical pedagogy; Comics and Autobiography, which targets various practices of remembering; Cruddy, a self-explanatory category that offers two extraordinary critical interventions into Barry's criticism around a challenging text; and Research Creation, which offers two creative synthetic artistic pieces that embody and enact Barry's own mixed academic and creative investments. This book offers numerous inroads into Barry's idiosyncratic imagination and what it can teach us about ourselves.

Routledge Encyclopedia of Narrative Theory David Herman, Manfred Jahn, Marie-Laure Ryan, 2010-06-10
The past several decades have seen an explosion of interest in narrative with this multifaceted object of inquiry becoming a central concern in a wide range of disciplinary fields and research contexts. As accounts of what happened to particular people in particular circumstances and with specific consequences, stories have come to be viewed as a basic human strategy for coming to terms with time, process, and change. However, the very predominance of narrative as a focus of interest across multiple disciplines makes it imperative for scholars, teachers, and students to have access to a comprehensive reference resource.

Ideologies of Identity in Adolescent Fiction Robyn McCallum, 2012-10-02
Ideologies of Identity in Adolescent Fiction examines the representation of selfhood in adolescent and children's fiction using a Bakhtinian approach to subjectivity, language, and narrative. The ideological frames within which identities are formed are inextricably bound up with ideas about subjectivity, ideas which pervade and underpin adolescent fictions. Although the humanist subject has been systematically interrogated by recent philosophy and criticism, the question which lies at the heart of fiction for young people is not whether a coherent self exists, but what kind of self it is and what are the conditions of its coming into being.

Ideologies of Identity in Adolescent Fiction has a double focus: first, the images of selfhood that the fictions offer their readers, especially the interactions between selfhood, social, and cultural forces, ideologies, and other selves; and second, the strategies used to structure narrative and to represent subjectivity and intersubjectivity.

Technique and Tradition in Beckett's Trilogy of Novels Gönül Pultar, 1996
This book discusses Molloy, Malone Dies, and The Unnamable, the novels that make up Samuel Beckett's well-known trilogy, to analyze the techniques employed and trace the traditions from which they have emanated. The book is made up of an Introduction and six chapters. The first chapter discusses Molloy, viewing its protagonist as a writer who is alienated but as such serves as a modern-day Everyman. The second chapter discusses Malone Dies with particular emphasis on its mode of narration and considers phenomenology to be the key to the narrative consciousness of the novel. The third chapter discusses The Unnamable with the aim of examining its constituent elements and the particular amalgam of fact and fiction The fourth chapter discusses the Continental confessional aspect of the trilogy examining such earlier Continental examples as Goethe's The Sorrows of Young Werther and Dostoevsky's Notes from the Underground The fifth chapter discusses the Continental philosophical novel aspect of the trilogy and situates the three novels within the framework of the post World War II French philosophical novel tradition
