Sign Language: Hands That Talk

Imagine having a full conversation without using a word. That's exactly what people do when they use sign language. Instead of using their voices, they use their hands. Here are some examples of sign language.

Sign language is a visual language. It uses simple signs to help someone who is deaf or hard of hearing. Learning sign language is usually learned by watching sign language. You can learn by watching with someone who knows sign language. You can also learn by watching a video. Sign language has many different signs, and each one means something.

One of the most useful signs is the sign for "help". It is used in many situations. For example, if you are in a store and you need help, you can sign "help". It is also used in many other situations. For example, if you are in a classroom and you need help, you can sign "help".

Sign language is a very important way of communication. It is used by many people who are deaf or hard of hearing. It is also used by many people who are not deaf or hard of hearing.
