Scientific Inquiry Cycle: Review

Science helps communities solve problems by developing knowledge and creating things that "solve" with a local focus such as water quality or waste management using science to assess or improve solutions can have a positive impact. Understanding the problem fully, including its causes and effects, is the first step in finding an effective solution.

Designing solutions requires considering various conditions, such as budget, time, and safety concerns. Community members have a role in a solution cycle. Challenges, setbacks, and the inability to weigh their individual contributions for solutions, creating resources for a solution that may affect its cost and ease of use, cannot influence the effectiveness of the solution.

After identifying a solution, determining how it works, what conditions affected it, and any compromises that have already been or should be made on the idea. Communication, group decision-making, and reflecting on the results of the solution are important steps. The process of identifying a solution locally encourages responsible decision-making and team communication skills.

 - Using unsafe materials
 - Using a solution with no risks
4. Why is communication important in a solution cycle?
