God and the Multiverse Victor J. Stenger,2014-09-09 Cosmologists have reasons to believe that the vast universe in which we live is just one of an endless number of other

universes within a multiverse a mind boggling array that may extend indefinitely in space and endlessly in both the past and the future Victor Stenger reviews the key developments in the history of science that led to the current consensus view of astrophysicists taking pains to explain essential concepts and discoveries in accessible terminology The author shows that science's emerging understanding of the multiverse consisting of trillions upon trillions of galaxies is fully explicable in naturalistic terms with no need for supernatural forces to explain its origin or ongoing existence How can conceptions of God traditional or otherwise be squared with this new worldview The author shows how long held beliefs will need to undergo major revision or otherwise face eventual extinction

Creation, God, and Humanity Catherine Wright,2017 Examines the history and development of ecological theological anthropology and how it engages human suffering so that people of faith can better understand the suffering inherent to earth's creative processes and that inflicted by human sin and all shall return in Him Humankind and the Cosmos: Early Christian Representations Doru Costache, 2021-07-15 In this volume Costache endeavours to map the world as it was understood and experienced by the early Christians Progressing from initial fears they came to adopt a more positive view of the world through successive shifts of perception This did not happen overnight Tracing these shifts Costache considers the world of the early Christians through an interdisciplinary lens revealing its meaningful complexity He demonstrates that the early Christian worldview developed at the nexus of several perspectives What facilitated this process was above all the experience of contemplating nature When accompanied by genuine personal transformation natural contemplation fostered the theological interpretation of the world as it had been known to the ancients Encyclopedia of Sacred Theology Abraham Kuyper, 1898 God, Humanity and the Cosmos Christopher Southgate, 1999 This book presents a systematic exploration of contemporary perspectives in physics evolutionary biology and psychology as they relate to theological descriptions of the universe humanity and consciousness Contributors examine such issues as theological responses to the ecological crisis how science is treated and valued in education the possible development of the science and religion debate in the 21st Century Humanity, the World and God Willem B. Drees, Hubert Meisinger, Taede A. Smedes, 2007 Preservation and Protest Ryan Patrick McLaughlin, 2014-11-01 Preservation and Protest proposes a novel taxonomy of four paradigms of nonhuman theological ethics by exploring the intersection of tensions between value terms and teleological terms McLaughlin systematically develops the paradigm of cosmocentric transfiguration arguing that the entire cosmos shares in the eschatological hope of a harmonious participation in God's triune life With this paradigm McLaughlin offers an alternative to anthropocentric and conservationist paradigms within the Christian tradition an alternative that affirms both scientific claims about natural history and the theological hope for eschatological redemption Through Creative Evolution to Incarnation and the Goal of Humanity James Gurnhill, 1926 Jesus Christ, the Ancestor of Humankind Charles Nyamiti, 2006 Karl Barth's Theology of Relations Gary W. Deddo, 1999 A detailed study of how theologian Karl Barth 1886-1968 comprehended the connections between the Christian doctrine of God the doctrine of humanity and Christian ethics a triad of concepts that the author refers to as Barth's theology of relations He examines Barth's writings on parents and children to discuss Barth's ethics generally and argues for the relevance of Barth's theology of relations to contemporary family issues Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR
