From Surviving to Metaviving Julie Mengert, 2025-09-04 As treatments have advanced metastatic breast cancer has become a disease that some women can live with for years which has changed the language that women use to discuss living with this form of breast cancer as discussed in this book Using the framework of Celeste Condit's rhetorical formations which includes uses of metaphors topics and values among other rhetorical features the author examines how language has shifted from one of war and survivor rhetoric to that of metavivor rhetoric which includes metaphors of water and prison among others Another hallmark of this emerging rhetorical formation is existing in a state of liminality where the cancer neither progresses nor retreats leading to women experiencing time differently By examining how women discuss living with cancer in an online breast cancer support group the author analyzes the language shifts taking place and argues that women have moved from the dominant war survivor rhetorical formation to one grounded in metavivor rhetoric Within this evolution comes an understanding of what it means to live with a chronic yet ultimately terminal illness and an acknowledgment of the impact that their lives perceived time has on these language choices

Discontinuous Public Health Insurance and Its Impact on Access to Care Among Low-income Children Shana Alex Lavarreda, 2009 Medical Humanism, Chronic Illness, and the Body in Pain Vinita Agarwal, 2020-10-06 Even as life expectancies increase increasing numbers of people are living with chronic illness and pain than ever before Long term self management of chronic conditions involves negotiating the intersections of personal life choices community and workplace structures and family roles Medical Humanism Chronic Illness and the Body in Pain An Ecology of Wholeness proposes an ecological model of wholeness which envisions wholeness in the dialogic engagement of the philosophical orientations of the biomedical and traditional medical systems Vinita Agarwal proposes an integrative premise of being whole through revising the fundamental definitions of humanism rethinking the self body environment and thereby recognizing alternative ways of organizing knowledge and human experience as this model pushes the intersections of patient centered care and sustainable health ethics It is in the spaces of such intersections Agarwal argues that we accomplish healing as an integrative relationship of the individual with the multiple cultural logics underlying chronic conditions and the competing medical worldviews of our contemporary landscape Scholars of communication health and medical humanities along with practitioners working with patients who have chronic conditions

The Ethos of Black Motherhood in America Kimberly C. Harper,2020-10-27 The Ethos of Black Motherhood in America Only White Women Get Pregnant examines the ethos of Black and white mothers in America s racialized society Kimberly C Harper argues that the current Black maternal health crisis is not a new one but an existing one rooted in the disregard for Black wombs dating back to America s history with chattel slavery Examining the reproductive laws that controlled the reproductive experiences of black women Harper provides a fresh insight into the bad black mother trope that Black feminist scholars have theorized and argues that the controlling images of black motherhood are a creation of the American nation state In addition to a discussion of black motherhood Harper also explores the image of white motherhood as the center of the landscape of motherhood Scholars of communication gender studies women s studies history and race studies will find this book particularly useful

Intercultural Competence Myron W. Lustig,Jolene Koester,2006 Striking a unique balance between skills and theory Intercultural Competence provides readers with the background and confidence to succeed in today s multicultural environment Blending both the practical and theoretical the concrete and abstract this book is both enjoyable to read and thoroughly researched By clearly explaining different theories and the significance of cultural patterns and having readers practice what they learn via examples in the book Intercultural Competence better prepares readers to interact in intercultural relationships The book also provides a discussion of important ethical and social issues relating to intercultural communication The authors cover U S cultures as well as global cultural issues

Health, Communication and Multicultural Communities Carmen Valero Garcés,2014 Communicating in multicultural settings is a field of central interest to those involved in ensuring access to healthcare Ever increasing migration requires access to essential legal medical and social services This book provides an overview of current issues in this field through a multi faceted approach situating the work of potential healthcare professionals and intercultural intermediaries in the broader context of public service providers and practitioners The book is not oriented towards one population in particular rather it is directed towards multiple groups mainly to students of the health sciences and medical professionals interested in communicating with migrants and visitors and those who have to work in multicultural settings It is not a theoretical book nor is it rule based by any means It is a handbook oriented towards reflection and practice resulting from years of experience training mediators interpreters and translators working in minority languages within multicultural settings It can be used for self study and independent learning but will also be extremely useful to teachers and trainers of future doctors and medical staff who seek materials or readings for their classes Furthermore it represents an excellent resource for mediators interpreters and translators who want to learn more about communication in healthcare setting
